Notice

The United States and Israel have decided to eliminate the requirement for a certificate of origin known as Form A under the Agreement on the Establishment of a Free Trade Area between the United States and Israel (FTA).

Please be advised that this decision has not yet taken effect, therefore when claiming preferential tariff treatment under the FTA, a certificate of origin is required upon importation into Israel from the United States.

Upon completion of the necessary legal procedures for entry into force of the Decision, a notice will be issued by the Israel Customs Authority.
