Moldova

Your Place to Grow

Throughout its history Moldova has been renowned for its agricultural produce, thanks to its rich soil, biological diversity, and mild climate.

Moldova has exceptional resources for agricultural production: black, fertile soil is ideal for cereal crops, fruits and vegetables; our countryside is suitable for organic products; and Moldova is a GMO free country.

Agriculture and the process industry together account for approximately 16% of GDP, but there remains much untapped potential in Moldova's agricultural sector.

The entire agricultural land covers 75% of Moldova's territory, the highest share in Europe. The production of crops accounts for 70% of the total production.

The greatest potential for growth is in production of organic food, as well as in conventional crops: wheat, barley, corn, soy beans, etc. Moreover, Moldova is able to meet the fast growing international demand of nuts and honey.

Main reasons to choose Moldova

Proximity and easy access to major markets

Moldova's exports are largely liberalized to both the European Union and the Commonwealth of Independent States. Most major destinations in these markets can be reached within 2 truck days.

A natural environment

Moldova's nature is conducive to intensive agriculture, offering a stable basis of high-quality raw materials, both conventional and organic.

The workforce is skilled and multilingual

Labor costs are the lowest in the region, creating a competitive business environment for both farming and food processing.

Large potential

Investors can tap an extensive agriculture tradition stretching over centuries and covering numerous sub-sectors.

Success story

Südzucker Moldova is a Moldova-German joint-venture company producing sugar. Its main shareholder is Südzucker AG, the largest sugar producer in Europe.

The company entered the market in 2001, has 3 plants and has developed 3 brands on the local market.

The modern plants allow for the production of about 53.5 million tons of sugar yearly.
