Who? The Export Development Department of Entrepreneurship Development Agency was set up

Why? For promotion of export of Georgian products

Where? Worldwide

The wide range of preferential trade agreements,

Rich diversity of high quality product,

As well as the liberal tax policy, allows international traders to benefit from

Doing business with Georgia.

Enjoying liberal trade regimes with half of the world, Georgia is a

WTO Member under MFN treatment from all member countries and is

In Free Trade Agreement with EU, CIS and Turkey.

The other natural advantage of Georgia is, that it is the

Hub for Europe, Asia, CIS – having excellent

Geo-Political and Geo-Strategic location.

EU imports Georgian product tax free under DCFTA trade agreement and

Over 3400 export products are within the US's GSP scheme.

Reduced cost of products due to tax free exports make Georgia a competitive trader.

GEORGIAN EXPORT OVERVIEW

Since 2000, just within a decade, export of goods and services in Georgia has grown by more than USD 2.2 billion each and reached USD 2.9 billion and USD 3.0 billion, respectively, in 2014. While still a net importer in terms of foreign merchandise trade, Georgia has managed to become the net exporter of services and has retained positive growth tendency over the past 15 years.

While the export of products has proven more susceptible to external outliers, on each such occasion (and in a short-term period), Georgia has displayed great ability at streamlining its export tendencies towards rebound from reduction to growth:

- Despite a slowdown of the Georgian export growth in 2006, caused by Russian embargo (which was Georgia's major trade partner by that time), the indicator increased by 32% in 2007, as a result of the country's dynamic effort to diversify Georgian export markets
- The biggest drop in export of goods occurred in 2009, as a result of combined effect of both – a 2008 war with Russia and a spillover of the global financial crisis. Despite a decrease of export of goods by 24%, the country managed to revert with 48% and 31% growth in 2010 in 2011 respectively.

Currently, Georgia's export balance is facing a challenge from a multitude of regional instabilities: Ukraine-Russian war and subsequent aggressive devaluation of both countries' currencies, devaluation of Azerbaijani currency, disruption of the Russian-Turkish relations (with relevant consequences to their goods exchange through Georgia). However, the newly signed Deep and Comprehensive Free Trade Area (DCFTA) agreement with the European Union is expected to foster the entrance of Georgian export-oriented companies into new markets and further diversify exports. Despite a 23% drop in overall export of goods (mainly due to drop of re-export of motor cars to Azerbaijan due to change of import regulations), trade with EU has increased by over 5.7%. With further harmonization of Georgia with EU standards, the tendency is expected grow and, coupled with greater inflow of FDI from EU, even further drive the diversification of Georgia's export markets.
